Meadowbrook High School

Richmond, Virginia

Volume V

CHESTERFIELD
COUNTY PUBLIC LIBRARY

"Now class, before you begin page two you must ..." "Before I came to Meadowbrook I ..." "I've got to practice before I can ..."

These and many others are comments often heard during a school day. They signify many phases of school life, which merely develop and prepare the student for the next, more difficult step in life. And, as the student progresses in school, education, and extra-curricular activities, he realizes that he must take each new experience, each vexing problem, or each well-deserved reward step by step.

During its five years of existence, Meadowbrook's student body has seen many changes in school life. Classes have been dropped, new courses have been introduced, and there has always been a new face among the familiar ones in the crowd. But, as these changes have been made, the students have learned to take them in stride, step by step.

As the graduate leaves the familiar halls of Meadowbrook, and each class advances a grade, each student realizes that the new experiences and problems awaiting him must be taken ...

Step By Step

Nancy Lane enters the new world of a sophomore at Meadowbrook.

Student And Teacher Problems Handled By Administration

Being principal of a student body the size of Meadowbrook requires both an overall knowledge of proceedings and a personal relation with many student and teacher problems. Areas confronting Mr. Montgomery range from small detail matters to situations which involve the entire student body. His job, being a varied one, requires attention in a thousand directions at once.

Mr. Stith, after completing his first full year as Assistant principal at Meadowbrook, has fit into the curriculum of the school very well. His prompt and decisive actions in disciplinary problems and clerical complications or building dilemmas have helped keep the office in smooth working order.

Mr. Stith discusses a problem with Mr. Faulkner.

Mr. Montgomery prepares himself for another busy day.

Office Staff Organizes A Students School Day

The Guidance Department is always available to students who need counseling. Mr. Sindlinger helps seniors choose a college or career, and then aids them in the proper procedures to follow in order to fill out the required applications.

Mr. Hanson, the junior advisor, and Mr. Bailey, the sophomore advisor, help their students plan their future courses of study. They also prepare students for the day when they will be faced with the decisions of college and career.

Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Williamson, the school secretaries, must be familiar with many phases of business and school life to keep the office at Meadowbrook running efficiently. They work with the financial records of the clubs, keep the school records and work various pieces of office machinery for the benefit of teachers and students. Distributing mail, writing dismissal slips, and answering constantly ringing telephones are also among the secretaries' numerous duties. Through their hard work and efforts, the secretaries help keep Meadowbrook running efficiently.

Congress And Caesar Come To Life In Social Studies

Meadowbrook's Social Studies Department, headed by Del Driver, offers students World History, United States History, and United States Government. These courses prove to be a great asset to students in their understanding of world affairs. During November and December, Mrs. Roe and Mr. Porter sponsored a mock presidential election. The election was complete with candidates, platforms and even political rallies. Later in the year, some of Mr. Porter's United States History students plan to take a trip to Gettysburg, Pennsylvania in order to tour the historic battlefield of the area.

Mrs. Roe holds the class spellbound with her pearls of wisdom.

Mr. Burton listens to another of Butch Gilliland's "pig stories."

Monarchs Are Intrigued By New Course In Electronics

The Drafting Department is divided into two main areas, Mechanical and Architectural drawing. Mechanical drawing consists of sheet metal drafting and solid shapes. A second year of mechanical drawing is available as a pre-engineering course. Two years of Architectural drawing are offered in the areas of house planning, drawing, and model construction. World architecture is surveyed through slides, film strips, and movies, with special emphasis on American architecture.

Electricity combines skills in math and science. Students learn the basic principles of housewiring and electricity. Equipment of high quality makes for better accuracy in labs.

Mr. Turner helps students in Basic Electricity class.

Math-Science Relationship Is Evident In Chemistry And Physics

Mr. Sloan instructs biology students in genetics.

Various areas of study are included in the Science Department this year. Each area is offered to students according to their grade level and desires.

Sophomores are involved in classes of biology dealing with the ecological relationship of eroded land and the identification of plants in their environments. Chemical students have created orbital models in order to exercise new concepts in original and independent thinking.

Two ripple tanks and several geiger counters have proved to be a great aid to physics students, while Advanced Science students have experimented with bio-plastics and FM receivers.

The math teachers have been preparing students this year for the changes to be made in next year's curriculum. In addition to the combination of Plane and Solid Geometry, such courses as an Algebra-Trigonometry combination and a Mathematics Analysis, will be available.

While students take a test, Mr. Redford relaxes.

Mr. Winn takes a break from his busy day.

Fine Arts Department Furtheres Student Interest

The Music Department, headed by Mr. Winn, offers interested students opportunities to participate in band and choral activities. These classes offer the student body ample entertainment throughout the school year.

At the present, the band is working seriously on its presentation for the band festival where they hope to receive a superior rating. Later in the year the band will begin working on the Spring Concert. After many weeks of diligent practicing, the band hopes to present a pleasing concert to the student body.

"No, it is not a lisp, that's the way it's pronounced."

Students Learn Of Foreign Countries Through Languages

Assez d'Anglais, a French newspaper, is familiar to students taking French this year. The newspaper is an intra-class project to which the French students contribute. Also several French skits, to help with word pronunciation, are presented in the classes. Among these skits are fables from La Fontaine and scenes from Bonnie and Clyde.

Slides, films, and maps of Spanish speaking countries are a few of the aids used by the students taking Spanish to increase their learning and understanding of the language. Students also read and study Spanish newspapers and magazines.

Through the use of projects and individual research, Roman culture and customs are being explored thoroughly. This year Latin II students are introduced to Caesar while Latin III and IV students read Cicero and the poetry of Ovid. The class translations are given added realism by the use of film strips and records of Latin Orations.

Junior And Senior Phys. Ed. Classes Now Offered

The Physical Education Department offers variety in its curriculum. Classroom preparation includes health and driver education, while sessions in the gymnasium provide opportunities for participation in team sports and individual competitive activities. In an effort to broaden these individual competitive activities the department hopes to work with the Curtis Campaign in order to get money to buy a wrestling mat or a trampoline.

Library Offers Source Of Learning To All

Mr. Kane has resumed his position as head of the English Department this year. Many of the teachers under him are new to Meadowbrook. As an aid to a better and more understandable background of English, a supply of new grammar and literature books are used by most students this year. These new books offer the combination of literature and grammar to be taught simultaneously rather than two separate courses as before.

Various activities during the year have put added interest into the Senior English courses. They have been given the opportunity to see "The Taming of the Shrew", a comedy by Shakespeare, and "School for Wives", a play presented at the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts.

Miss Cudlipp listens attentively to another of Dale Gipe's fascinating questions.

Business Courses Prepare Students For Office Life

Aside from the regular business courses of typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping, Meadowbrook has established enough student interest to have classes in data processing.

The students strive to obtain general background in all aspects of the data system and the punched card theory. This understanding is established in conjunction with the bookkeeping and accounting theory. Students have two periods a day of data processing, which contributes two credits toward graduation.

In order to extend student interest, various speakers have been invited to present new concepts to the business classes. These speakers, as well as numerous field trips, have helped to give business student a well-rounded idea of a well established business.

Mrs. Gordon instructs the typewriter repair man in the various uses of a screwdriver.

Senior Year Full Of Decisions For Future Plans

The last year is proving to be hectic for all seniors. In the fall there are college and career preparations, college boards, work programs, and a variety of extra activities. Blue and white have been chosen as the class colors, with the yellow rose as the class flower.

In February, seniors are given the opportunity to order announcements and be fitted for caps and gowns. As the spring draws near, anxious seniors await college acceptances while others ponder the possibilities with the Armed Services.

A multitude of activities culminates the year for seniors. The Junior-Senior Prom, Senior Class Night, and the Baccalaureate Service all provide memorable occasions. In the final moments of Commencement, the graduate experiences feelings of poignancy and challenge.

Juniors stand in respect as Vice-president Pat Rand leads the seniors to a formal assembly.

Junior Officers Struggle To Organize Busiest Year

The juniors, bearing the new title of upperclassmen, are working dutifully toward achieving the responsibilities of their new positions. Planning the prom and making future plans for individual endeavors prove to be the major objectives for juniors during the year. Using their ingenuity, the juniors are probing all sources for projects to raise funds in order to increase the class treasury. A dues drive culminating in February is contributing to the primary sources in order to reach the class quota. Projects being planned are a sock hop and a bake sale.

P.S.A.T. tests in December and college boards in March are giving many juniors their first taste of the various testings that they will encounter in their senior year. While these juniors are continuing in college preparatory courses, many other juniors are joining or remaining in various VOR, ICT, and DE courses (many of which are being expanded for greater junior participation). The guidance of Mr. Hanson, the junior guidance counselor, is benefiting the juniors in all the areas that they enter.

The final arrival of the Junior Class rings in December assures them of their complete entrance into the realm of upperclassmen.

Orientation Day Introduces Sophomores To M.H.S.

Advancing to a Senior High School, the Sophomore Class is finding new opportunities awaiting them at Meadowbrook. The excitement of Orientation Day is soon followed by actual participation in school activities and day to day routine. The sophomores are soon becoming accustomed to the habits of a different school, and they are beginning to enthusiastically join the many activities offered to them and to take part in all Monarch life.

After holding elections for class officers in September, the class is beginning to organize their efforts so that they may be financially stable for the upcoming years.

Scat and Step tests are given in the fall, coupled with many new subjects such as Biology, Dramatics, and Electronics. The sophomores are finding themselves in an increasingly more complex curriculum.

The school year is revealing the sophomores as students who hold promise for Meadowbrook as loyal Monarchs.

Football Team Confronts Season With Spirited Effort

"Piece by Piece . . ." "Push 'em back, Push 'em back . . ." "Which goal is ours?" These and many others were yells heard throughout the stands of the Monarch's den during the football season. Led by returning seniors, the team offered unequaled experience to the newly oriented underclassmen. Although hindered by numerous injuries, the team brought the season to a successful close with the defeat of Colonial Heights.

Cross Country Team Members Gain Valuable Experience

Led by returning team member Pat Rand, Meadowbrook's cross country team finished a very satisfying season. The team was composed of many underclassmen who will be able to offer their experience to next year's team.

By running many local courses, the team was able to prepare for the various track conditions present in the meets. At these meets, although the team scores were short of winning, quite often there were individual records set by a sprinting Monarch.

Pat Rand runs the course everyday to keep in shape.

Wrestling Team Hosts Regional Tournament

Along with an impressive number of new turn-outs, the wrestling team had many of its experienced members returning. The Monarchs literally fought their way through the season, which resulted in their best record since the team has been formed. A definite improvement has been noted in the team and Coach Kain is very optimistic for the coming years.

The co-captains John Fallen and Willie Ligon led the team to the Richmond Area Wrestling Tournament, which was held at Meadowbrook. Monarchs making an outstanding showing at the tournament were Troy McGuire, John Fallen, and David Bowles. McGuire, who was undefeated for the season, won the trophy for the 138 pound weight class. John Fallen captured the title in the unlimited class, and David Bowles was first runner up in the 134 pound weight class.

Having undergone a winning season, the Varsity basketball team gained valuable experience. Led by Donnie Haycox, who was high scorer for the season, and Ted Salmon, the team's number one rebounder, the Monarchs exhibited unfailing ability and spirit.

In the Monarch's first victory over Patrick Henry, Donnie led the team to victory with his precision shooting. Haycox will return next year along with Bobby Wadkins, Harry Crews, and Ray Barden.

JV Basketball Team Shows Impressive Season

The J.V. Basketball team gained first hand experience as young Monarchs. After a slow start, the team progressed their season, and out-scored their opponents win after win. Perhaps the most exciting game of the season was the Manchester game. Going into over-time, the Monarchs defeated the Lancers and showed them, and the rest of the district, that the Monarchs of the future would be the team to watch.

Girls Basketball Team Finishes In First Place

Look out district, here come the Lady Monarchs. Proving to all the superiority of Monarchs, these girls boasted a season of nine wins and one loss. Having experience and confidence, the Lady Monarchs won the district title and were tied for the regional. Led by the experience of the returning seniors, the "Femme Fatales" of the basketball court out-played, out-scored, and overpowered all opponents in this, their best year.

Golf Team Captures District And Regional

Breezing through the regular season with fourteen wins and only one loss, Meadowbrook's golf team again brought honors to its school. The team's only encountered defeat with Huguenot did not knock the Monarchs out of the district championship, however. Led by the Wadkins brothers, Lanny and Bobby, the team captured the title by an easy thirteen strokes.

Winning the district championship put the Monarchs in the running for the state title. Hoping for a second consecutive win, the team left for the state match with an unequaled victory spirit. This spirit was dampened, however, when the team placed second in the state golf match, losing by a mere five strokes. Bobby Wadkins did win the state medalist's title, however. With next year's returning juniors, and the up-coming sophomores, MHS's golf team still has hopes for more victorious seasons.

Rand Finishes Second In State 880

Although Meadowbrook's track team had some of the best individual material in the district, it lacked the team depth necessary to complete a fully winning season. Led by such outstanding seniors as Pat Rand and Ted Salmon, the cindermen fought earnestly for a well deserved victory.

Striving diligently for a team victory, many boys would finish first in their individual event, but they lacked the backup points of a third or second place winner. One of the team's greatest unit efforts was spoiled by a foul in the meet against Petersburg. With this year's training, however, next year's team has high hopes for a victorious season.

Billy Gill leaps to a second place at Huguenot meet.

Tennis Offers New Sports Field For MHS

Newly organized at Meadowbrook, the tennis team has shown evidence of a very promising future. Although the team didn't experience a winning season, the victories it did experience were well deserved ones.

With six of the team's seven members returning next year, the Monarch's tennis courts should be the scene of some well played matches.

Cecil Dorset uses a forehand sweep to return his opponent's serve.

Lady Monarchs Are Undefeated

"Pitch it to home ... " "I threw that too high ... " "One more out and we've made it ... " These and many others were the thoughts running through the team's mind during each game. Organizing superb batting, fielding, and coaching, the Girl's softball team was able to finish the season with a 10-0 record. It was because of the special efforts exerted by the Lady Monarchs that the team was able to bring their first undefeated season to Meadowbrook.

Tom Stigall Is Chosen Most Valuable Player

Pitching, pitching, and more pitching. This seemed to be the largest problem faced by Meadowbrook's baseball team. After stunning the district with a five-straight-win opening, the team was in a tie for first place. But this fast-paced start was brought to a halt with the team's first defeat by Huguenot, and this began the long chain of defeat for the Monarchs.

Although the team continued with spirited effort throughout the season, they never seemed to attain the victory drive obvious at the season's opening.

Organ Fund Drive Occupies SCA's Efforts

During the school year the SCA has contributed to almost all of the school's activities. A Back-to-School dance was held in the cafeteria in the fall after a football game. The attractive homecoming float for the princesses was made by the SCA. In December, "Old Fashioned Christmas," the annual Christmas dance, was held in the gym with music by Little Harvey and the Kings of Soul. Cafeteria clean-up committees were set up to help solve cafeteria problems; a spirit jug was started to promote school spirit, and an honor code was passed.

The ICC is sponsored by the SCA with the purpose of co-ordinating the activities of the clubs. All club presidents are required to attend these meetings. Officers were elected at the first meeting in October.

In October, Seniors Marie Loving, Rachel Strong, Shirley Showers, Jean Early, and Jim Wimbish were tapped into NHS. In February another tapping was held for outstanding juniors.

Seven members and Mr. Geiger, their sponsor, attended the Southern District Convention held at Newport News. In addition to their regular responsibility of posting the honor roll each six weeks, NHS members sold car decals as a fund raising project.

Jim Wimbish taps new member, Amanda Phillips.

Q and S Holds Formal Tapping For New Members

Besides organizing the election of Senior Superlatives, the Quill and Scroll has established a new and more formal service for induction of new members. These qualified students of the Junior and Senior classes who have been accepted into the organization, celebrated their acceptance at an informal party.

Hoping to pave the way for next year's chapter, this year's members of the Quill and Scroll have established new traditions and formalities for future chapters to follow.

Hi-Y Introduces Intra-mural Sports To MHS

Hi-Y members fulfilled their motto of "creating, maintaining, and extending" throughout the school term. Members presented the student body with an impressive Thanksgiving assembly, in co-operation with the Tri-Hi-Y. A new intramural sport was introduced—the Key Club-Hi-Y basketball game, in which the Hi-Y outscored their opponents for a rousing victory.

Fund raising functions included the sale of license plates in the early fall, and a movie, "Guns of Naverone," during the semester break.

Annual Slave Day Boosts Tri-Hi-Y Treasury

New Tri-Hi-Y members were welcomed into the club with a coke party in the fall. Filling Halloween pumpkins with candy for welfare children, filling a Thanksgiving basket, carrying a box of fruit to an elderly woman at Christmas, and having a George Washington's Birthday party for children at the Methodist Children's Home were just a few of the projects carried out by the club. A joint Thanksgiving assembly was held with the Hi-Y, and a discussion on teen-age marriage was held when Rev. Wright spoke to the group in March. Money raising projects included the annual sale of Y.M.C.A. mints and a slave day held each February 14.

Vietnam Book Drive Keeps Red Cross Active

When the pencil sharpener would not put a point on a pencil anymore, the Red Cross provided numerous boxes throughout the school to collect the stubs. These "little pencils" were then sent to McGuire Hospital for patients to use on crossword puzzles and letters. Besides collecting these stubs, a drive for old paperback books was held to provide entertainment for boys in Vietnam.

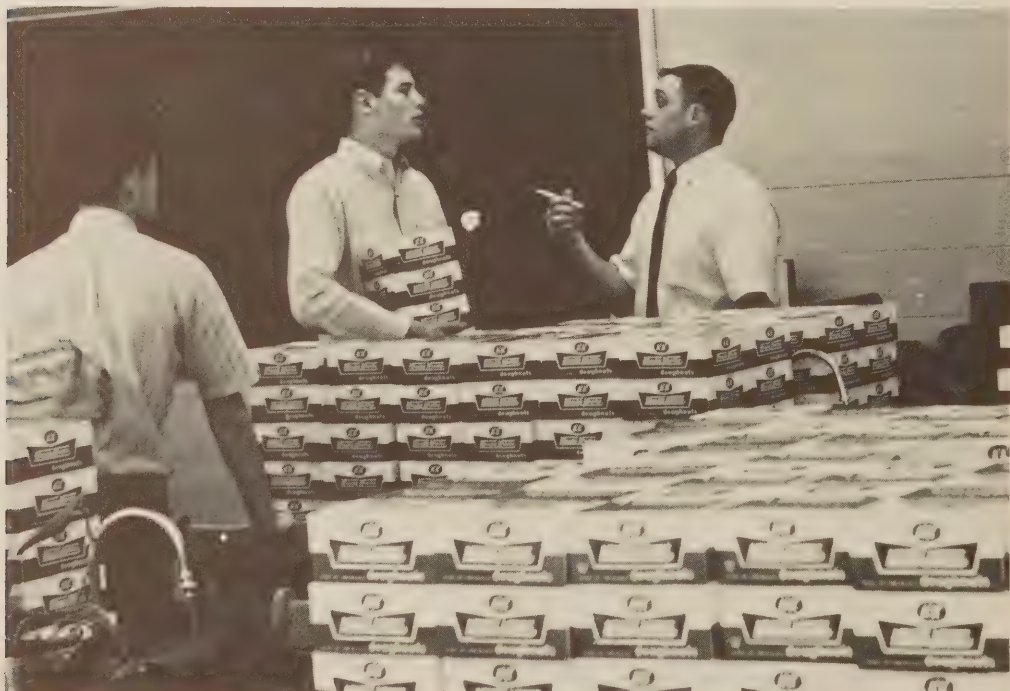

Valentine's Day was made a little bit brighter for the veterans at McGuire Hospital by cut-outs from the MHS chapter. In addition to these drives and aids, the club sent recreational equipment to the Red Cross Chest.

Key Club Promotes School Spirit Drive

Pat Rand hangs falcon for benefit of visiting team.

Raising and lowering the flag, directing traffic at home football games, and assisting the Music Boosters and Kiwanis Club are only a few of the services provided by the Key Club this year.

The club actively helped provide school spirit by selling pep ribbons, placing a large "Key Club Says Fight" sign in the gym, and hanging a falcon up at the Huguenot game for the benefit of the visiting team.

A doughnut sale was held in which all proceeds went to the track team, and donations were made to the Mack D. Moore Scholarship Foundation, the SCA organ fund, and the wrestling team for uniforms.

In March four members attended the District Convention in Baltimore.

Medallion Staff Adds New Features To Newspaper

In an effort to improve their newspaper, the "Medallion" staff worked diligently during the year. Along with the new school year came a new sponsor, Miss Ann Edmondson, who worked with the staff members and provided them with useful information concerning school publications. New features introduced for the first time included "The Jungle Beat", a column by Jean Early telling of student activities throughout the year, and "Monarchs of the Month", two seniors who were elected monthly by the staff on the basis of over-all abilities.

In the fall, sophomores who were interested in working on the paper were chosen for next year's staff, and were allowed to write and publish the last issue of the paper. This will prepare them for next year's work and responsibilities.

Meeting Deadlines Is Challenge To Sceptre Staff

Several new features were added to the Sceptre this year. A new improved fabric cover was the most welcome improvement. Also added was the Patrons' Page, which takes the place of advertisements. A vigorous yearbook campaign was held in the fall. Members of the staff promoted the campaign at a pep rally by acting as hippies picketing for the yearbook.

Muse Begins New Tradition By Sponsoring Literary Contest

With the largest working staff in its history, The Muse initiated a literary contest this year in hopes of encouraging creative writing. The response was very successful and the contest will become an annual event. The Muse, which came out in April, included the winning entries of this contest and also the literary contributions of many of the students of Meadowbrook.

Court Players Earn Superior Critique In State Competition

The Court Players, under the direction of Mr. Del Driver, presented a popular Broadway hit, The Odd Couple, last fall, which was well received by the public and students.

Also, they represented Meadowbrook in the District One-Act Play Festival with their production of "Blue-Concerto." They received a superior rating which sent them on to the state competition. There they received an outstanding critique from the judge at the University of Virginia.

Because of these superior performances, the local E.T.V. studio requested the right to film it. The student production was shown in March and April on Channel 23.

Art Club Adorns Halls Of MHS With Continuous Art Exhibits

Continuous art exhibits in the school have been one of the art club's main projects. Props, scenery, program covers, and posters are constantly being made for different school functions. Stage setting decorating was done for the "Odd Couple," as well as posters, set decoration, and the showcase for the Miss Meadowbrook pageant. Besides doing advertising posters for the Regional Wrestling Matches and College Night, the art club was also in charge of the programs for the county-wide Shakespearean play "As You Like It". The club has also participated in several art exhibits around the school and community.

Roman Banquet Brings Latin Club Year To A Climax

Initiating new members in the early fall, the Latin Club held its annual Roman banquet. New members began their duties by preparing and serving the meal to old members.

Projects occupied much of the members' time during the year, and in the spring the completed aqueducts, bridges, and Roman Villas were displayed for the Latin classes.

Spanish Club Plans Orphan Adoption

Cheeta Jenkins was chosen as Miss Spain this year in the Los amigos de Don Juan Spanish Club. The club has made plans to adopt a Latin-American orphan, and to take a trip to the Spanish Embassy in Washington, D. C. The club has also had a bake sale, car wash, and a Christmas party for the members of the club.

French Club Sees Museum Production School For Wives

When School for Wives came to the Virginia Museum in October, the French Club took an excellent opportunity to attend a French play. Besides having a bake sale and speakers telling of their experiences in France, the club has started a slide collection which will coordinate with the first and second year textbooks.

Tutoring Provides New Means For Fund Raising

The Math Club is organized for its first chapter at Meadowbrook High School. It contains nine members: two seniors, (Bud Bailey and Suzanne Wright, five juniors, (Gail Holder, Sharon Oliver, Debby Delbridge, Sherry Gregory, and Mark Pitts) and two sophomores (Becky Bailey, and Doug Mann.)

Since organized, the club has talked with Dr. Lowery of the University of Virginia, seen the computers at Dupont, and discussed Math Courses with Mr. Groble of the University of Richmond.

Earlier this year the organization was accepted into the National Junior College and High School Math Club (Mu Alpha Theta). The title of the club is now, the Meadowbrook High School Chapter of Mu Alpha Theta.

Requirements for membership into the club are an A average in math, a nomination by a faculty advisor or a member of the club, and approval by a majority of members.

Old World History And Civil War Draw Interest

Included in the new clubs organized at MHS was the History Club, formed to recognize those students who have more than a vague interest in the past. Mr. Flavuis Walker, a local historian, spoke on the criticisms of Abraham Lincoln at a banquet held for the club members.

Later in the spring, a trip to Gettysburg oriented the members with this battlefield of the Civil War.

"Citizenship Challenges You"

Gears Work Of FHA

Meadowbrook Future Homemakers have been busy working on a project of Citizenship Challenges You. Among the outstanding activities was a Christmas Party. At this time the chapter visited the Richmond Home for Elderly Ladies and presented each one with a handmade Christmas gift in addition to preparing a program for them, serving homemade "goodies", and just visiting and talking with them individually. Other activities included sending a Thanksgiving basket to a deserving family, having a family covered dish supper to become better acquainted, preparing and giving unplanned skits on citizenship in the home at a chapter meeting, and having several teas for the faculty members and parents.

Highlighting the year was the crowning of Miss Betty Jean Dawson as Miss F.H.A. for 1968-69 at the annual Sweetheart Dance in February, and the Parent-Daughter Banquet held in April. At the banquet outstanding awards were made, degrees of achievement were awarded, honorary membership was given to Mr. John Montgomery and the year's work was reviewed.

Miss Sue Braswell brought honor to herself and her chapter by being elected president of the Bellwood Federation, Future Homemakers of America for 1968-69.

FTA Scholarship Fund Supported By Sock-hop

The Senior who receives the FTA scholarship will be a student receiving a gift of united labor. Club members have sponsored doughnut sales, a sock-hop, and a calendar sale to establish the scholarship fund.

Along with fund-raising projects, the club has serviced the school with a tea for faculty members in the fall, and by serving as hosts at the Southside Area College Night, held at MHS.

To prepare themselves for the duties as officers of the FTA, Leigh Sealey and Chuck Adams represented Meadowbrook at the State FTA Convention.

Safety Council Awards Best Girl And Boy Drivers

Safety Council members attend the Area Youth Safety Council twice a month. A scrapbook is entered each year in March, and Meadowbrook's Safety Council has been proud to receive first place one year and second place for three years. To stimulate safety throughout the school, a safety poster contest and a Safety Week are held. The safety council also awarded the Best "Boy-Girl" driver awards to Ray Barden and Sharon Savedge.

Nature Trail Added To Projects Of Science Club

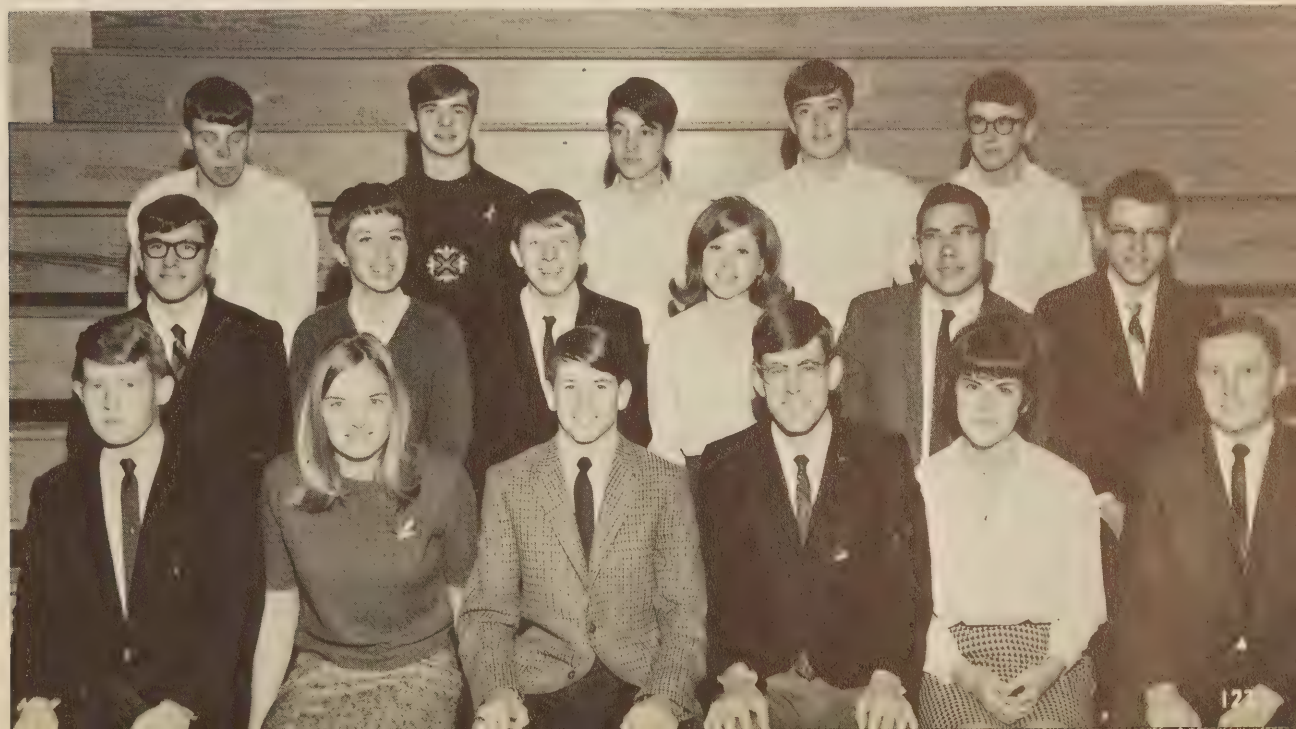

Students seen traipsing in to the woods this year may not have been up to the mischief suspected of them. They were probably Science Club members going back to work on the newly formed nature trail. Travel was intense in the club, too. Members were given the opportunity to visit Blousten Point, the Medical College of Virginia's blood-typing center, and the H. B. Robins Pharmaceutical Laboratory.

Besides the average car wash, the Science Club held an airplane wash as a fund raising project.

Club members Jim Wimbish, Jean Early, and Tom Canup, work on nature trail.

Wendy Woolridge Is Elected Regional FBLA President

Meadowbrook has had an extremely active FBLA chapter this year. Among the many projects the club has undertaken this year, are a doughnut sale, a candy sale, a pen sale, and a sock-hop held on February ninth.

At the Regional Convention, Wendy Woolridge was elected as the president of the RPI Region of the Future Business Leaders of America. Meadowbrook also received an outstanding rating on both the exhibit and the bulletin board. Mary Bailey placed first in the spelling competition, while Gail Driskill, who was the Chapter President during the past school year, became second runner-up in the Regional "Miss FBLA" contest.

FBLA members display award winning bulletin board.

On-the-Job Training Prepares Girls For Future

Combining classroom fundamentals with on-the-job training consumes much of a VOT member's time. Yet, she still has time to participate in regular school activities, such as a Saturday afternoon doughnut sale or an employer-employee banquet in the evening. These and other activities have kept MHS's chapter busy throughout the year.

The local chapter of Vocational Industrial Clubs of America at Meadowbrook is headed by Mr. John Brown. VICA students work half a day on jobs, according to their various trade position.

Grace Nowitsy, a senior in the club, is the first to hold the honorary position of president in District 3. Her bulletin board entry won first place at the state convention.

This year the convention was held at Meadowbrook on 15th, 16th, and 17th of March.

Library Club Mans Desk During Study Halls

A picnic at Forest Hill Park on Sunday, October first, was the first activity of the year for the library club. Besides a trip to WTVR in January, club members undertook a trip to Williamsburg to visit the new library at the College of William and Mary. The library club also has the responsibility of planning a new bulletin board in the library each month. The decorative bulletin boards in the library show that the library club accepts this monthly responsibility willingly.

Half-times And Concerts

Sport Band's Peppy Music

School spirit is aroused in each student as the sound of the band can be heard during pep rallies and football games.

The band met in August to prepare for all the fall activities. In early September, the band attended the County Fair, and in October they traveled to Charlottesville for the fourteenth Annual Band Day at the University of Virginia.

Nights of enjoyable music are heard each year at the Christmas and spring concerts.

In March the band attended the V.M.E.A. Instrumental Festival where they received an excellent rating.

Chorus Ensembles Provide Entertainment At Assemblies

"Where's my robe? Somebody took my music! I forgot what note to start on!" These were familiar cries of the Girls' and Mixed Chorus. The Girls' Chorus assists the Mixed Chorus in all music department productions.

Each year the choruses participate in the Thanksgiving Assembly and the Christmas and Spring Concerts providing the community and student body with popular tunes, slow tunes, lively music, and religious songs.

Both chorus groups received a "one" rating at Vocal Festival held at Falling Creek Intermediate School.

Money-making projects included the annual selling of fruit cakes and candy.

Twirling Fire And Flags Requires Continuous Practice By Majorettes

The majorette squad, along with other organizations, shares the privilege of representing Meadowbrook High School and promoting school spirit. Since the majorettes are a part of the band, their regular activities include performances at pep rallies, football games, parades, and concerts. Their performances at these events include not only marching routines but also fire, flag, twirling, and jazz routines. The squad performs in half-time shows at home football games and supports the team at away games. They entered the State Twirling Competition, which was held at Meadowbrook this past summer, and won a first place trophy for MHS.

Monarettes Represent MHS At Various Functions

"Right flank! "Left face!" "To the rear march!" were familiar orders for the Monarettes as they marched at home football games, participated in the County Fair, Hull Street Parade, and the University of Virginia on Band Day.

The Monarettes began the season sporting new double breasted uniforms. Drinks and doughnuts were sold at all major activities to raise money for these uniforms. The girls attended the wrestling matches and brought oranges for the monarchs on the meets.

In the spring, try-outs were held and new members were picked to replace graduating seniors.

Varsity Cheerleaders Strive To Promote School Spirit

Making posters for the halls, signs for the football team to run through, decorating goal posts, and planning pep rallies are only a few of the chores of a varsity cheerleader. Even in the summer, the cheerleaders come to school to serve tea to the football team. These girls have the responsibility of planning homecoming and the dance that follows.

A wishing well, and boxes for seniors, juniors, and sophomores were placed in the hall to collect money for Top Cat.

JV Cheerleaders Help Intensify School Spirit

Selling programs during football season was one of the biggest chores of the Junior Varsity squad. The JV squad greatly assists the varsity cheerleaders by cheering at football games, making posters, planning Homecoming Activities, and participating in School Spirit Week. The squad supports their JV Basketball team by cheering at all games, and taking part in each pep rally.

SUZANNE WRIGHT
Maid of Honor 1967

Beginning with a pre-game parade of beautifully decorated floats and cars, Meadowbrook's third homecoming was a welcomed presentation for both alumni and students of the school.

Following the half-time show by the band, majorettes and drill team, the ten homecoming princesses were presented to the audience. Senior Judy Quaiff was crowned Homecoming Queen of 1967, with Senior Suzanne Wright as Maid of Honor.

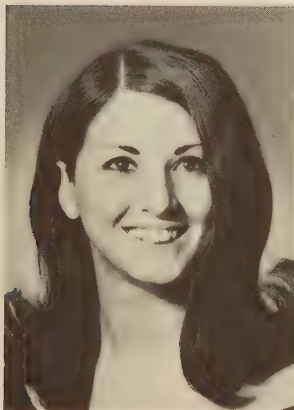

After the game, students and alumni alike enjoyed the fast and vibrating music of the "Jokers Wild" at a dance sponsored by the JV and Varsity cheerleaders.

Pageant And Concert Ignite Christmas Spirit

During the days previous to the holidays, students participate in various Christmas activities.

The band, chorus, and majorettes present their annual Christmas concert. An added attraction for the youngsters is the appearance of Santa Claus and his reindeer.

Each year the Senior Class, along with the chorus, presents a Christmas pageant which is a silent portrayal of the Christmas story.

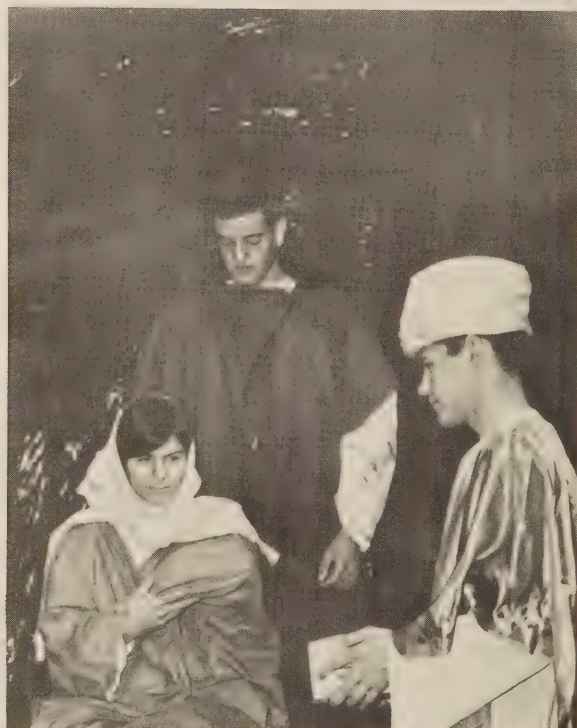

King Herod is portrayed by Jerry Smith.

Angels offer guidance to the three wise men.

Wise Men offer gifts as Mary looks on.

Christmas Dance proves exciting and enjoyable for all.

James Chance "rocks-out" to the music of the "Kings of Soul" music.

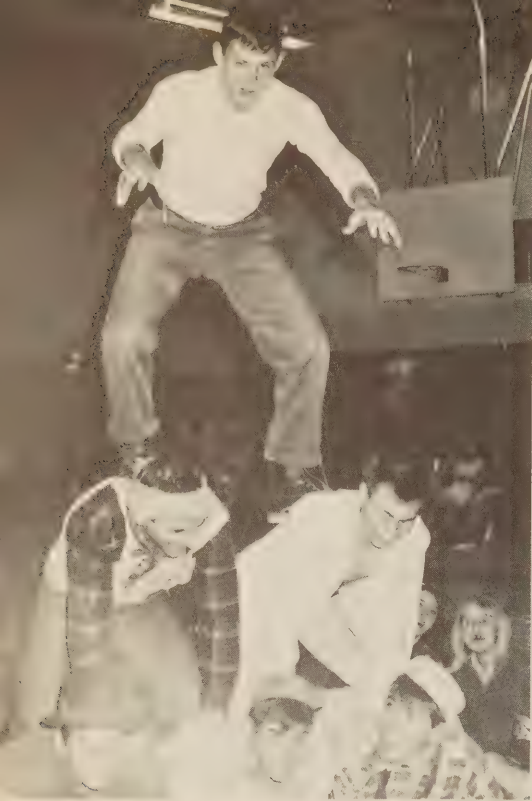

SCA members work diligently on dance decorations.

SCA Christmas Dance Initiates Holiday Festivities

Hard work and long hours were put toward making the Christmas Dance one each student would long remember. The SCA presented "An Old Fashioned Christmas" for the student body prior to the Christmas holidays. Profits from this event went to the SCA Organ Fund.

With music by the "Kings of Soul," the students danced around a huge Christmas tree which stood in the center of the school gymnasium. A special attraction was the soul-filled entertainment of James Chance.

Students "clown" and "create".

Pat Gallagher and Gene Winter pay a visit to "Marrying Sam."

Sadie Hawkins Dance Gives Girls A Chance

In connection with the annual magazine campaign, the Athletic Association sponsors the first Sadie Hawkins Dance at MHS. With music by the Soul Sensation, the students enjoyed a night of fun and frolic.

During the week previous to the dance, girls spent endless hours getting dates, making corsages, and preparing extra specialties to make the coming evening one of unusual happenings.

The main highlight, "Marrying Sam" portrayed by Eddie Cash, caught the attention and minds of many attending the dance. As students topped the evening off by participating in their own marriage ceremonies, the girls gloomly awaited the closing of a dance and a night they could call their own.

Right: John Bruce has best corsage.

Oscar, Tony Oropello, is summoned from his bedroom by Felix's, Ray Ellis, urgent call.

Court Players Present "Odd Couple"

On the evenings of November 16, 17, and 18, Meadowbrook's Court Players presented Neil Simon's comedy hit "Odd Couple." Under the direction of Del Driver, the players presented evenings of relaxation and enjoyment to amused audiences.

Portraying two divorces who shared an apartment were Ray Ellis and Tony Oropello. Besides hosting a weekly Friday-night poker game for friends portrayed by Buddy Thomas, Warren Chapman, Buddy Myers, and Charlie Spenser; these two bachelors planned a dinner party for two young English girls, played by Jenny Horn and Betty Fly.

Backstage was a busy scene too, for the stage crew was responsible for not only littering the up-town New York apartment set, but for cleaning up this litter in quick scene changes. With Paula Johnston backstage to guide the actors and stage crew in her capacity as assistant-director, the Players gave Meadowbrook a memorable performance of a great Broadway play.

Upsetting the regular Friday night poker game is Felix's strange behavior.

Everyone's a doctor, and each friend has his own cure for Felix's pains.

"My meat loaf is ruined," pouts Felix.

Broadway Production Staged At MHS

"If you don't shut up, pow, a banana right in the mouth."

Felix must tidy up, despite any health problems involved.

Gwen and Cecily, Jenny Horn and Betty Fly, seem overcome with their new acquaintance.

Felix has many home remedies for a clogged sinus, including "moose calls."

Sophomore Secures Title Of Miss Meadowbrook '68

With the arrival of March 18 came an evening of glamour, suspense, and pretty faces, for the SCA presented its annual "Miss Meadowbrook Pageant." Emceed by SCA president Eddie Cash, the contest took place on the stage decorated by a large silver crown and a white footbridge. From the eighteen girls competing, five finalists were selected by the judges. From these five girls, Joyce Dixon was chosen as Maid of Honor, and sophomore Debbie Gwinn was crowned the new "Miss Meadowbrook" for 1968. In a vote among themselves, the girls elected Suzanne Wright as Miss Congeniality.

With an excellent performance of "Lida Sue," the Barbershop Quartet won first place in the talent competition. Second place was awarded to Billy Thomas, who demonstrated his talent as a magician.

First-place winning barbershop quartet has relaxed rehearsal.

Folk-singer Jere Graham auditions for the talent competition.

Mike Gibson prepared his song for a Friday night performance.

Debbie and other contestants seem calm at Thursday night practice.

Barbershop Quartet Places First In Talent

Friday night shows contestants' nerves and dress in contrast to Thursday's practice.

The mixed chorus presents a more serious side of spring.

Getting its turn during the concert is the band's brass section.

Presented on May 17 was the concert "Sounds of Spring '68," featuring productions by the band, choruses, and majorettes. Spring was seen and felt throughout the evening by those attending the concert, as members of the band and choruses performed such numbers as "Georgy Girl," "Tea for Two," and "You'll Never Walk Alone."

In conjunction with the concert, the art department sponsored an art sale, the first of its kind for Meadowbrook. During the evening, material of many of Meadowbrook's art students was placed on pleasing display in order that customers could chose from many pieces of various forms of art.

The choruses entertain the audience with a medley of spring tunes.

“Sounds Of '68” Rings In Springtime

“Baby Spring,” Buddy Myers, teases Mr. Winn.

Art students Betty Rowsey and Nancy Engard discuss works.

The "Rockettes" prepare to entertain the "club's" audience.

Faculty Show Transforms Stage To Cave

Mr. Kane decides he can't drop his chips on his toes during the weekly poker game.

Mr. Butler calmly hopes for a short circuit, even though, "you can be sure if it's Westinghouse."

Rocks And Things Provides Scholarship Fund

Mrs. Brown shares her experience in nature with audience.

For days before the faculty show, the only sounds heard near the stage were those of rocks hitting the ground. On the night of the production, students well understood these noises and the meaning of the title "Rocks and Things."

Stalking down the aisles of the auditorium in scanty animal skins and long hair were quite a few beastly looking cavemen, who started the show. These cavemen were later recognized as such faculty members as Mr. Seaton, Mr. Porter, Mr. Kane, and Mr. Redford. As the play progressed, these cavemen were joined by others at the local nightclub, where they were entertained by the "Rockettes," a rousing poker game, and a unique invention unveiling by Mr. Winn.

Changing the scene to an impromptu display of talent, the second half of the show featured the popular black-out and various walk-ons by the faculty. It seemed that Mrs. Brown had a definite "hang-up" on trees, while Miss Howard tried to "skate" her way into Mr. Winn's heart. The faculty put a lot of effort into its production, and the boost in the scholarship fund proved this.

Mr. Winn is ready to expose his new invention to the world.

Castles And Thrones Create Camelot Theme

Juniors presented the annual Junior-Senior Prom to Seniors on the evening of May 4. Dancing from eight to eleven in the evening, students were transported to the medieval days of knights and their ladies fair by the theme of "Camelot", which prevailed throughout the gym.

Prepared and planned for many months, the Prom was under the supervision of Dick Booker. With part of the gym depicting the exterior of a castle, the remaining gym area provided the setting for the inside of the same castle to convey the "Camelot" theme. To add an extra touch to the atmosphere, the band was elevated by a drawbridge effect on the right side of the gym.

Music for the evening was provided by "Shirley and the Carousels." During the Prom, the theme song was played by the band, while selected members of the Senior class performed the figure. Following the figure, Eddie Cash and Diane Hart, who were elected by the Seniors, were crowned King and Queen of the Prom.

Dewaine Hammond works willingly on castle for "Camelot."

Ronnie Donathan and Barbara Armstrong seem to enjoy themselves in the medieval atmosphere.

King Eddie and Queen Diane are crowned by Nancy Southall and Harry Crews.

Seniors and their dates enjoy the music of "Shirley and the Carosells."

Sammy Nelson and Tom Sink prepare to leave the stage.

Other contestants seem to enjoy Ray Ellis' calm stroll.

Seniors Plan Memorable Class Week

Sammy Nelson takes his turn before the judges as others look on.

Senior "Teacher Day" seems to agree with Betty Fly in Spanish.

One of the winning points is made by Senior Jerry Smith.

Bermuda day didn't change class routine, did it Robert?

Beginning early in the year, the class of '68 made plans for a Senior Appreciation Week that would be a memorable one for MHS. On Monday the annual Junior-Senior basketball game, just as Seniors had won the spirit jug earlier in the year, they remained victorious over the Juniors by the end of the game. Many students throughout the school saw a change in teaching methods when Seniors filled the position of their teachers for classes on Tuesday.

For Wednesday, Seniors took a break from their everyday schedule to spend time practicing for Senior Class Night. Thursday found the Senior boys transformed into "lovely and charming" young ladies for the unforgettable "Miss America" pageant. Escorted by Senior girls who worked toward the slight resemblance of young men, the contestants stunned and amused the curious student body with their antics. "Fanny Floyd," portrayed by Bobby Floyd, caught the judges' eye, and at that eventful moment, he was crowned "Miss America," 1968.

Ending a week of many events, Friday showed the Seniors as a calm and cool group. A wide variety of bermuda shorts and other sports wear was seen throughout the halls of MHS, as Seniors enjoyed "Bermuda Day," the last day of Their Week.

Judges Featured In Class Night Skits

Terminating Senior Appreciation Week, but beginning the graduation activities, Class Night for the the class of '68 proved to be a rewarding one. Beginning the evening with the Last Will and Testament skit, Judge Lanny Wadkins was aided by several "distinguished" attorneys in deciding which wills should go to Devil Bobby Floyd, or Saint Peter David Sobrito.

Following the announcement of Senior Superlatives by Pat O'Brien, the prophecies for the class were presented. "Laugh-In" provided a theme for the skit, which was emceed by John Gorman and Wayne Haycox. After these skits, various community and school awards and scholarships were presented to outstanding members of the class.

In a more serious mood, Seniors attended the Baccalaureate services held the following week. After an invocation by Reverend Stephen Glover, and a hymn by the chorus, Dr. Ross Mackenzie presented a sermon which held meaning for each Senior.

Pat Rand receives the Civitan award for outstanding citizenship.

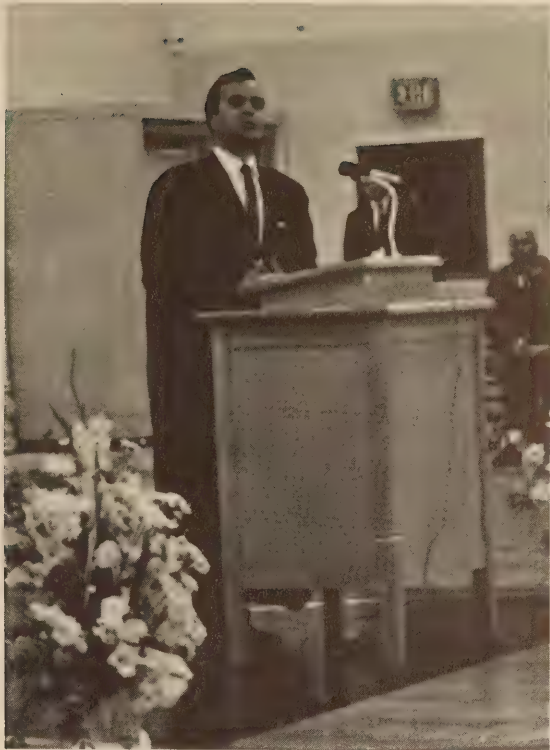

"Blind Justice" Lanny Wadkins holds trial for the "Last Will and Testaments" of '68.

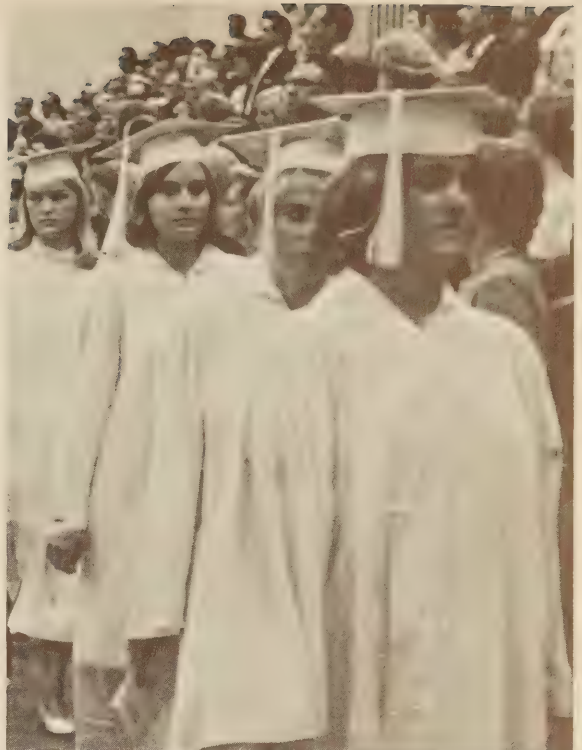

"John Wayne," Rick Hensley, introduces the prophecy skit.

Dr. Mackenzie addresses the graduates of '68.

Recessional marks a step closer to graduation for Seniors.

Dr. MacKenzie Delivers Service

Class of '68 finds Baccalaureate service heedful.

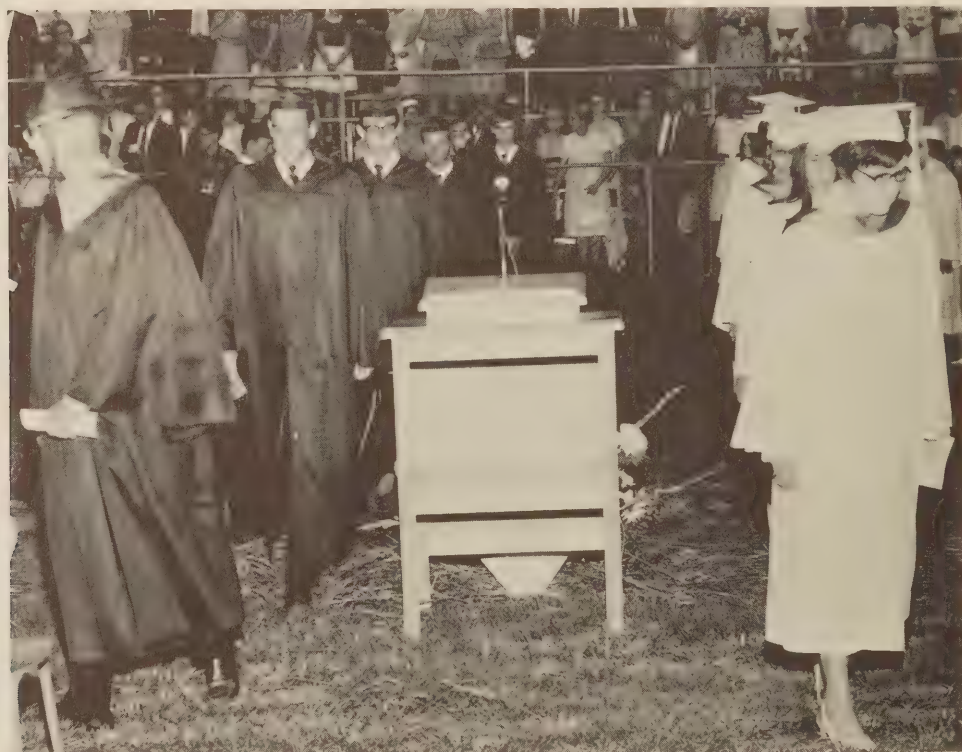

Mr. Muse pauses before beginning his speech to the Class of '68.

The Mack D. Moore scholarship is given to Beverley Woods.

Class Of Five Years Graduates

Class officers Bud Bailey and Barbara Thurston led class to graduation.

Class historian, Shirley Showers, receives her diploma.

Billy Gregory receives the Faculty scholarship from Mr. Montgomery.

Graduation was an eventful one for the class of '68, for this was the first and only class to complete five years at Meadowbrook. These five years were marked with responsibilities, problems, and rewards which were all accepted by a united class.

After an invocation by Reverend Howard Gregory, Class President Bud Bailey offered a welcome to the congregation and then introduced Senior speakers Susan Stevenson and Gene Winter. On completion of these speeches, Principal John R. Montgomery, presented the Mack D. Moore scholarship to Beverley Woods, and the Faculty scholarship to Billy Gregory.

Following these presentations, Mr. William Muse addressed the class. On completion of his address, the school's chorus sang a hymn, which was followed by the presentation of diplomas by Mr. Montgomery.

Standing, diplomas in hand, the graduation class of 1968 sang the Alma Mater, after which the class marched off the field, alumni of Meadowbrook High School.

"It's all over but the shouting."

Step by step—As the venturesome sophomore enters the mysterious halls of Meadowbrook and learns their secrets. He makes new friends, learns the ropes, and steps up to the junior year. The junior year is the settling year when lasting friendships are made and positions of responsibility are obtained. At the end of this eventful time, the junior realizes he is at the next step—the one up to senior. Entering school for his final year, the senior lives in a special world—one of privileges, responsibilities, and visions of the future. At the end of the year, the Meadowbrook senior, bravely takes the biggest step of all—the one into the new world of life.

As the senior graduates, he realizes that each of his respective classes has been but a piece of the whole, only a step in one of many. He also realizes that the whole of high school is only a small step in life and that it is only a small piece in a large puzzle which each student must take—step by step.
